

Search

Plan Your Trip

Go

Select a Region or Country

Select a Destination

Go

NORTH AMERICA > UNITED STATES > GEORGIA > ATLANTA

Winter Day Out in Atlanta

Piedmont Park offers unparalleled views of the Midtown skyline.

Erik S. Lesser for The New York Times

By KEVIN SACK
Published: January 18, 2008

IT is in Midtown that Atlanta feels most like a real city. That is where the sprawl finally ends, where Costco and Outback give way to condos and Outwrite (the gay bookshop). There is a vertical grace to the streetscape, a fundamental yet all too rare appreciation for proportion and design. Home to the arts center, a great urban park and some of Atlanta's best restaurants, the district has a vitality that is at once hip and sophisticated.

Atlanta Travel Guide

- Where to Stay
- Where to Eat
- What to Do

Go to the Atlanta Travel Guide »

Multimedia

Slide Show

5 Big Cities, 1 Winter Day

This makes Midtown an Atlanta oddity, a destination for its own sake, and one that my family and I can enjoy on an early-darkening winter day as well as a long, scorching one in midsummer. After all, in Atlanta's temperate climate, we have seasons but not snow shovels.

A crisp, clear day for my family begins with a walk or jog through Piedmont Park, the city's century-old "common ground," which stretches north from 10th Street. Pathways wind through 189 acres of sweeping lawns, offering unparalleled views of the Midtown skyline. The kids insist that we stop by the dog run, where the city's mongrels mix indifferently with its blue bloods, and that we pause to watch the inline skaters, who slalom through orange cones near the 12th Street entrance.

Great Getaways - Travel Deals by E-Mail

Sign up for travel offers from NYTimes.com's premier advertisers. See Sample hshure@seligententerprises.com Sign Up
Change E-mail Address | Privacy Policy

AIG Travel Guard GET A QUOTE

E-MAIL

PRINT

REPRINTS

SAVE

SHARE

ARTICLE TOOLS SPONSORED BY

Whoa!

BOOK FLIGHTS

FLIGHT HOTEL PACKAGES
 CAR CRUISE ACTIVITIES

Leaving from: _____ Going to: Atlanta

Departing: 2/11/2008 11 AM Returning: 2/13/2008 11 AM

Adults: 2 Seniors: 0 Children: 0

Search for flights

MOST POPULAR - TRAVEL

- E-MAILED | BLOGGED
- Explorer | Mount Kilimanjaro: On Africa's Roof, Still Crowned With Snow
 - Adventure Guide to Mexico
 - 36 Hours in Breckenridge, Colo.
 - Winter Day Out in Chicago
 - Next Stop | Japan: A Relaxing Tradition Dips a Toe in the 21st Century
 - Journeys | The Jura, France: A Festival to Celebrate a Fabled Wine
 - Heads Up | Rising Hotel Rates: Number of Rooms Can't Meet Surging Demand
 - Day Out | Sunset Junction, Los Angeles: For West Coast Boulevardiers
 - Winter Day Out in Washington, D.C.
 - Winter Day Out in Boston
- Go to Complete List »

Related

Winter Day Out in Boston
(January 18, 2008)

Winter Day Out in Chicago
(January 18, 2008)

Winter Day Out in Seattle (January 18, 2008)

Winter Day Out in Washington, D.C. (January 18, 2008)

Erik S. Lesser for The New York Times
At the Flying Biscuit restaurant, breakfast is served all day. More Photos »

Enlarge This Image

Erik S. Lesser for The New York Times
The Atlanta Botanical Garden's Fuqua Conservatory remains tropical in the winter for the benefit of orchids, pitcher plants and visitors alike. More Photos >

We've earned a brunch at the Flying Biscuit Café, where breakfast is served all day. Picture windows expose the bustling corner of Piedmont and 10th, site of Outwrite, as well Nickiemoto's sushi bar and Zocalo Mexican Restaurant (where even a second margarita may be ill-advised). The cafe's eponymous biscuits, served with cranberry apple butter, provide reason enough for the visit, but the menu also features an array of flavorful stuffed omelets and scrambles.

The lovely Atlanta Botanical Garden, just north on Piedmont, has quietly become a leading civic asset, sponsoring lavish sculpture installations and a concert series. Even on a chilly day, the Fuqua Conservatory remains tropical for the benefit of orchids, pitcher plants and visitors alike.

Our path takes us through Ansley Park, the city's most elegant in-town neighborhood, past the Greek Revival First Church of Christ, Scientist, and the new skyscraper at 1180 Peachtree Street, with a cantilevered top that looks like a futuristic missile silo.

We take an afternoon stroll through the High Museum of Art, where the recent addition of new wings by Renzo Piano to the white porcelain mainstay by Richard Meier has added a sense of scope and ambition. Currently on display is a three-year rolling exhibition of treasures from the Louvre. Though the permanent collection remains uneven, the High provides a jubilant introduction to Southern folk art, from Gees Bend quilts to Howard Finster's frescoed bicycle.

On to dinner at Pura Vida, a tapas bar that has earned raves for its chef, Hector Santiago. The bar, with its fanciful Boteroesque murals of zaftig musicians, serves mojitos worthy of South Beach, and a soothing sangria as well. The menu includes ceviche made four different ways, empanadas stuffed with chicken and raisins, and smoky strips of grilled hanger steak.

We skip dessert, heading instead for a nightcap at our favorite spot down on Ponce, an Atlanta institution since 1965. The anticipation grows as we near. Will the circular beacon in the window flash its neon welcome?

"Hot Now," it screams, and the whooping commences in the back seat. We watch as our glazed Krispy Kreme doughnuts rumble down the conveyor belt, knowing that a frosty night in Atlanta cannot end any more warmly than this.

Flying Biscuit Café, 1001 Piedmont Avenue NE; (404) 874-8887. Atlanta Botanical Garden, 1345 Piedmont Avenue NE; (404) 876-5859. High Museum of Art, 1280 Peachtree Street NE; (404) 733-4444. Pura Vida, 656 North Highland Avenue NE; (404) 870-9797. Krispy Kreme, 295 Ponce de Leon Avenue NE; (404) 876-7307.

More Articles in Travel »

The New York Times HEALTH
nytimes.com/health

Do the rules apply to Dr. Phil?

Also in Health:

- Do you like to your therapist?
- Depression more deadly for diabetics
- How to boost your willpower

The New York Times STORE

Bustling Riverfront - 1910
Buy Now

ADVERTISEMENTS

LAST MINUTE ATLANTA HOTEL DEALS

Sheraton Atlanta Downtown	$142
Hyatt Place Windward Parkway	$69
The Ellis on Peachtree	$155
Hyatt Place Atlanta Arpt-North	$109
The Georgian Terrace Hotel	$119
Days Inn Atlanta Downtown	$85

Need to know more? 50% off home delivery of The Times.

Ads by Google

what's this?

Lake Lanier Ga

Save a Lot on Travel Quick & Easy!
TravelSearch.com

Atlanta Web Design

Voted the Top Atlanta Web Design. Interactive Marketing. $10,000+
www.SolarVelocity.com

Maui Tan Atlanta

Free tan for first time customers Midtown, Downtown, Vinings, Collier
www.maitanusa.com/

Past Coverage

- THE TALK; Betting on Buckhead (November 18, 2007)
- MUSEUM REVIEW | THE NEW WORLD OF COCA-COLA; Ingredients: Carbonated Water, High-Fructose Corniness ... (July 30, 2007)
- Tangle of Conflicting Accounts In TB Patient's 12-Day Odyssey (June 2, 2007)
- WEEKEND WITH THE KIDS; In Atlanta, New Attractions and a Touch of History (March 30, 2007)

Related Searches

Travel and Vacations
Atlanta (Ga)

Mentioned in This Article

Renzo Piano | Richard Meier |
Louvre | Atlanta

INSIDE NYTIMES.COM

OPINION »

Photo-Op: The Man on the Street

ART & DESIGN »

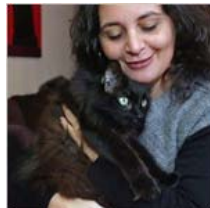

Undaunted Director at Indian Museum

OPINION »

Editorial Observer

Verlyn Klinkenborg offers some thoughts on a lifetime spent behind the wheel.

N.Y. / REGION »

A Psychic for the Famous, or Rather, for Their Pets

TECHNOLOGY »

The Game May Be Free, but Winning Costs Money

WEEK IN REVIEW »

Thinking Twice About That $400 Handbag